

Ema Kapor

Classical Guitarist

Serbian classical guitarist Ema Kapor is recognized for her musical sensitivity and stylistic versatility, and is regarded as one of the most promising guitarists of her generation. Based in Germany, her recent career achievements include the release of her debut album, Manuel Maria Ponce: Selected Works (JSM Guitar Records, 2023), as well as prizes and concerts at leading European guitar events.

With over 40 acknowledgements in international competitions, she has won first prizes at Forum Gitarre Wien (2023), the Festival Internacional de Guitarra Jose Tomas Villa de Petrer (2021), and the Tallinna Kitarrifestival (2019) among others. These distinctions have led to recital and festival invitations across more than a dozen European countries. As a soloist, she has performed repertoire such as Rodrigo's Fantasia para un Gentilhombre with orchestras in Romania and Serbia, while also maintaining an active chamber music profile, including her guitar duo with Belmin Okanovic.

She holds a Master of Music with highest honors from the Robert Schumann Hochschule Dusseldorf, where she studies with Prof. Joaquin Clerch and is currently completing her Konzertexamen. She previously studied with Prof. Hubert Kappel at the Cologne University of Music and Dance.

Ema performs on a Paco Santiago Marin guitar and is a D'Addario Artist.
